Marrakesh Treaty Takes Effect May 8, 2019

The Long Wait is over. Adopted on June 27, 2013 and in effect in 2016 when Canada ratified the treaty. On February 8, 2019 the United States officially became a party to the Marrakesh Treaty to Facilitate Access to Published Works for Persons Who Are Blind, Visually Impaired or Otherwise Print Disabled, joining 48 other countries and the 28-member European Union. Among other things, the treaty makes it easier for organizations such as NLS that serve people with visual impairments and print disabilities to share books in accessible formats across international borders.

NLS has been working with other offices in the Library of Congress and the Legislative Branch to determine the full implications of the treaty and how it will impact NLS and network libraries.

Ultimately this should enrich the collection of materials available to patrons.

You can familiarize yourself with the treaty here:

www.wipo.int/treaties/en/ip/marrakesh/

Congress's Marrakesh Treaty Implementation Act is here:

CTBL will be closed on the following days in 2019:

May 27th, July 4th, and September 2nd

From the Director

The Colorado State Library is thrilled to welcome our new state librarian and assistant commissioner, Nicolle Ingui Davies, to the team and back to her Colorado home. Nicolle holds both a master's in public administration (MPA) and a master's in library and information sciences (MLIS), making her perfectly suited for this leadership role. She returns to Colorado from her position as executive director of the Charleston County Public Library in South Carolina, where she has been since she left her role as executive director of the Arapahoe Library District in 2016.

During her 12 years with the Arapahoe Library District, Davies was named Library Journal's 2016 librarian of the year, in part for her role in securing a $6 million budget increase for the district's libraries.

CTBL Community Reads

Fiction Selection

Quiet Neighbors — DB090891 & PR026117

Author: Catriona McPherson ** Narrator: Carol Jacobanis

Length: 12 hours, 44 minutes ** Best Contemporary Novel finalist, Agatha Awards and Mary Higgins Clark Award finalist

Afraid she is wanted by the police, London librarian Jude flees to a small Scottish town where bookshop owner Lowell offers her both work and lodging. The gravedigger's cottage isn't perfect for a woman alone, but at least she has quiet neighbors. Quiet, but not silent. The long dead and the books they left behind both have tales to tell, and the dusty rooms of the bookshop are not the haven they seem to be. Lowell's past and Jude's present are a dangerous cocktail of secrets and lies, and someone is coming in to light the taper that could destroy everything. Strong language. Slight British accent. 2016.

Non-Fiction Selection

Author: Hampton Sides ** Narrator: David Pittu

Length: 12 hours, 9 minutes

In October 1950, a small group of Marines were heavily outnumbered by not only the Koreans, but Mao's Chinese troops as well. What followed was one of the most heroic and harrowing operations in American military history. Faced with annihilation, and temperatures plunging to 20 degrees below zero, the surrounded Marines fought through the enemy forces.

Draws from archival research and interviews with American and Korean survivors. Unrated. Commercial audiobook. 2018.

Tech Talk — Resources for Coding

CTBL was contacted by an agency interested in resources for visually impaired students wanting to learn computer coding. For anyone interested here are some of the resources I found for them.

Apple has a programming language, SWIFT, that is supposed to be very accessible. Here is a link to an article written by the Perkins School for the Blind:

<http://www.perkinselearning.org/technology/posts/swift-playgrounds-ios-teach-students-code>

And information on the Apple site:

<https://www.apple.com/everyone-can-code/>

The site below lists some specific programs that are supposed to be user friendly to blind or low-vision people wanting to learn to code.

<https://www.washington.edu/accesscomputing/what-are-some-examples-accessible-programming-languages>

Another article on the accessibility of some popular coding sites:

<http://www.perkinselearning.org/technology/blog/accessible-coding-whats-out-there>

Here is a blog post written by a programmer who is blind. He lists some of the tools he uses when writing code:

<https://www.parhamdoustdar.com/2016/04/03/tools-of-blind-programmer/>

There are also IDE (integrated development environments) that are accessible. These sites don't teach coding, but rather offer a place to build code. One of the accessible sites is Eclipse:

<https://www.eclipse.org/>

And finally for anyone interested in the Linux operating system there is: <http://leb.net/blinux/>

Volunteers — Small Investment, Big Impact

“Alone we can do so little; together we can do so much.”
— Helen Keller

The volunteers at Colorado Talking Book Library have a big impact on our services. Each volunteer is able to turn a few hours each week into significant results. In 2018 they contributed more than 27,915 volunteer hours. Here are a few of the ways they made a difference last year.

Because of CTBL Volunteers...More than 900 new patrons were welcomed to our services, learned how to use the talking book machine, and also learned to download books from BARD.

Because of CTBL Volunteers...We reached 787 new contacts and sent 721 outreach packets to them. Also, our traveling displays were sent to libraries around the state.

Because of CTBL Volunteers...Our patrons had 2,386 new large print books to read.

Because of CTBL Volunteers... 350,000 books were inspected, checked in, and were ready to send out to another reader.

Because of CTBL Volunteers... The catalog records in KLAS are more complete and accurate making it easier to find the right book for each patron.

Legacy Gifts

Legacy gifts to the Friends of CTBL are a vital way to ensure ongoing support for all the services the library provides to patrons. The Friends have established Eyes to the Future that honors and recognizes the generosity and vision of patrons, families and friends who have chosen to leave a legacy through their estates or other deferred gifts.

We invite you to become a member of Eyes to the Future. Enrollment in this honorary group is simply a matter of advising us about your plans to make a legacy gift, such as a bequest in a will or living trust, or designating The Friends of CTBL as beneficiary of an individual retirement plan, 401k or life insurance policy. The Friends of CTBL is a public 501 c 3 charity and the tax ID is 23-7243950.

Contributions to The Friends of the Colorado Talking Book Library and The Colorado Talking Book Library

An additional way to contribute to either the Friends or to CTBL is through a charitable bequest as part of a will or through life insurance. You do not have to rewrite your current document but can add a written amendment called a codicil. Such a bequest only becomes irrevocable at your death. Giving to the library helps support the programs and service we provide to our patrons and helps to secure the future.
